

Matching CBH numbers to NGR numbers GROWER FACT SHEET

What is NGR?

For the past 5 years the National Grower Register (NGR) has provided grain growers from across Australia with a free, secure registration process by maintaining contact, tax and payment details in one location saving growers time and money. Now Western Australian grain growers can also take advantage of the NGR free registration service!

Why should I join?

By joining NGR's free registration service, growers of Western Australia can now sell to approximately 60 different marketers and traders Australia wide, without piles of paperwork.

Say goodbye...

to unnecessary additional registrations and keeping all your different buyers up to date each time you need to change details!

Growers delivering grain in WA now have the opportunity to reduce all that paperwork and minimise the number of cards needed by linking their CBH number with the nationally accepted NGR card.

How does it work?

- 1) Register for an NGR card.
- 2) Deliver your grain as usual.
- 3) Your chosen marketer accesses your payment and contact details via the NGR database.

- Call NGR and we will take your details over the phone, call 1800 556 630.

Important points to remember

- By supplying a CBH number on your NGR registration application, you will be giving NGR permission to give your NGR card number to NGR Registered Parties.
- For all payments other than from CBH, you will be paid from the details on your NGR card not the details held on your CBH card.
- When registering please tell the NGR call centre that you are from WA .
